DEWEY OPENS UP MICHIGAN GOP CAMPAIGN

BOISTEROUS THROG GREET'S NOMINEE IN OWOSSO

BY GARDNER BRIDGE
Owosso, Mich., Sept. 9 (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey came home tonight to voice a plea to the people of his birthplace to join him in a Republican crusade to "release the main springs that come from the nation to peace-time pursuits after the war."

Addressing a crowd estimated at more than 12,000 former townspeople in front of Owosso's white brick city hall, Dewey declared the campaign issues this year are greater than any individual or party. They involve, he said, the future peace of the world.

Early Victory Forecast
The former Owosso boy who became governor of New York rode triumphantly up his home town's main street, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Anne Dewey, and his wife for the most boisterous welcome that has been given him during the campaign. He came by train from Lansing, where he had conferred with Gov. Harry F. Kelly and leaders of political, labor, farm and Negro organizations.

At a news conference there, the Republican presidential nominee had forecast an early end to the German war, making it clear that the Roosevelt administration's agreement to keep him advised of foreign policy developments covered only discussions of postwar security and sanctions against the Axis—not military strategy.

Home Town Grows
Dewey appeared so overcome by Owosso's reception tonight that he almost stumbled off the train in the semi-darkness after greeting his mother inside his private car.

The usually self-composed candidate was met by a crowd that Sheriff Ray Gellatly said exceeded the 16,000 population of Owosso. Other, however, estimated the crowd at less than that figure.

Facing a throng that jammed the front of the city hall, the Republican nominee himself observed that his home town could not have grown so much since he was here last August.

Shifting quickly from his "glad to be back" remarks, Dewey called for an end this November to the "dreadful eleven years of unemployment" that preceded Pearl Harbor.

Declaring the hope of future peace "not the property of any one man or of any one party," he said he was dedicated to the proposition that only a "strong, courageous new administration" can strengthen this country for the future it faces.

"We must release, once again the main springs that come from the nation to peace-time pursuits after the war."

PANIC REPORTED WITHIN NORWAY

German News Source Announces There Is "Something Afoot"

London, Sept. 9 (AP)—The German DNB agency broadcast tonight that "there is something afoot in Norway."

The agency was not very specific about just what the "something" was, but did say that the civilian population was leaving its homes wholesale and that panic had broken out in the northern province of Finnmark, with inhabitants fleeing to the south.

It was suggested in London that this might be an artificial panic induced by the Nazis to make room for the troops that now are pouring into northern Norway from Finland.

However, with Finland's retirement from the war and the stiffening attitude of neutral Sweden, Germany's hold on Norway is considerably weakened.

Sweden announced today that she had stopped transit of all German freight and that from Norway via Sweden and that in the future only German sick or wounded would be allowed to pass through.

Transit of German troops and war materials through Sweden was forbidden last summer. Now, with halting of all types of Nazi freight the Germans are forced back into tenuous sea communications with Norway.

English City Asks Help To Clear Up Buzzbomb Damage

Folkstone, England, Sept. 9 (AP)—Still under attack from flying enemy long-range batteries across the Straits, Folkstone sent out an appeal today for help in clearing up the damage from shellfire and buzzbombs.

"We are being thanked for the way we stood up to enemy attacks in these frontline towns during the last four years," said Alderman W. Hollands in the message to Whitehall. "We don't mind being thanked but we want something more now. We want help and as quickly as possible."

Right in the center of buzzbomb alley, Folkstone suffered more than any of the other seashore towns. Between 4,000 and 5,000 properties were damaged by robots in addition to the wreckage caused by earlier bombings and cross-channel shelling—two more shells coming over today.

Law Firm Revised By Prentiss Brown; Lund In Washington

Detroit, Sept. 9 (AP)—Prentiss M. Brown, former United States senator, announced Saturday a reorganization of his law firm here which will include John W. Babcock, who resigned as chief assistant district attorney last July.

Brown, chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison company, said that the Michigan firm will include Brown, Fenlon and Babcock and the Washington office, Brown, Fenlon, Lund and Babcock.

Fenlon is commissioner of the state bar of Michigan and former prosecuting attorney at St. Ignace. Lund was former assistant to Donald M. Nelson and served with the War Manpower commission and the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission.

Roosevelt Rushes Plans For Quebec Victory Conference

Washington, Sept. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt rushed preparations for his Quebec victory conference with Prime Minister Churchill today, gathering from cabinet members and diplomats advice and information on a wide range of European political and economic subjects.

This weekend promised to usher in a climatic period of military and diplomatic activities unparalleled since the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting at Tehran nine months ago.

With Allied armies pounding the walls of Germany, some military men here believe that the final great battle of the European war—the battle to crack the so-called fortress of Germany—is at hand.

In the talks at Dumbarton Oaks, now drawing to a close, the period will see British-American-Russian agreement on the organization to maintain a new era of peace.

And in the Roosevelt-Churchill conference it is almost certain to produce decisions on the final course in the war against Japan as well as on solutions for war and problems in Europe.

Today Mr. Roosevelt saw Secretaries Hull of the state department, Stimson of the war department, and Morgenthau of the treasury. He had asked those three to gather for him information on problems involved in the occupation of Germany and in the arrangement of European economic affairs, especially in the critical transition period immediately after the war.

NAZIS ON LAST STAND IN ITALY

Desperate Fight Waged For Rimini, Gateway To Po Valley

ROME, Sept. 9 (AP)—In seeking to prevent an Allied breakthrough into the Po valley and a possible envelopment of the whole Gothic line, the Germans fought savagely today to hold the gateway city of Rimini against British Eighth army forces.

A communique from Gen. Harold Alexander's headquarters said that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, making probably his last stand in Italy, had thrown his infantry and armored units into a series of heavy counterattacks in the Adriatic sector yesterday, but that the veteran Eighth army had beaten them off with no substantial change in positions. Casualties were heavy on both sides.

British troops seized Palazzo and neighboring Hill 151 and successfully checked German armored counterattacks. Menghio, 1,000 yards west of Croce and the same distance from Hill 151, also was retained by the British as the Germans made fierce attempts to regain them.

Americans on the Fifth army front continued to move forward along their entire sector. Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark told his troops in a message on the first anniversary of the Salerno landing that "the final blows are still ahead and your Fifth army will soon deliver one from which the enemy will not recover."

Liner Rex Wrecked In North Adriatic By Rocket Attacks

Rome, Sept. 9 (AP)—Struck by more than 120 RAF rockets, the 50,000-ton liner Rex was burning in the northern Adriatic off Trieste today after fierce attacks by rocket-firing Beaufighters.

Reconnaissance pilots said the one-time queen of the Italian merchant fleet and Atlantic speed record holder was lying motionless with a 60-degree list to port as the result of hits below the waterline. Pilots said flames were roaring from all points of the ship.

The big liner in August, 1933, crossed the Atlantic from Gibraltar to Ambrose Light in New York harbor, a distance of 3,181 miles, in four days, 13 hours and 55 minutes.

Tokyo Wants No Fight With Reds

New York, Sept. 9 (AP)—Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese foreign minister, told the Japanese diet today that "the present realistic interest dictates that Japan and the Soviet Union remain neutral countries."

The Tokyo radio, heard by the Office of War Information, quoted Shigemitsu as saying "it is our intention to keep on friendly terms" with Russia. The statement was in reply to a request for comment on Soviet-Japanese relations, the broadcast said.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA WIND UP BRIEF WAR

BIG PORT ON BLACK SEA NEAR TURKEY FALLS TO REDS

BY W. W. HERCHER
London, Sunday, Sept. 10 (AP)—Russian forces sweeping 100 miles into Bulgaria yesterday occupied the big Black Sea port of Burgas, only 30 miles from the Turkish frontier, as Moscow announced the end of its short-lived war with Bulgaria.

Marines of the Black Sea fleet under Admiral E. S. Oktyabrsky, Sevastopol hero, aided in the seizure of Burgas, 52 miles south of Bulgaria's other main seaport, Varna, taken Friday.

In one of the shortest wars in history Soviet troops were ordered to cease military operations against Bulgaria effective at 10 p. m. (3 p. m. Eastern War Time) last night, "in view of the fact the Bulgarian government has severed relations with Germany, declared war on Germany, and asked the Soviet government for an armistice," said the broadcast Moscow statement.

Nazis May Be Cut Off
The occupation of Burgas put the Russians under Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin, Third Ukraine army commander, only 80 miles from Greece in the swift drive to annihilate or capture 250,000 Germans estimated to be cut off in that country and Yugoslavia.

The Bulgarians are estimated to have 20 good divisions which they can hurl into the battle against their former comrades-in-arms, the Nazis. And with the seizure of Burgas the Russians have another valuable port with which to quicken the conquest of the Balkans.

Berlin announced that the Red army had begun a new offensive in southern Poland aimed at Krakow, last big bastion guarding the invasion path into German Silesia, and the Russians announced rapid gains in northeastern and central Romania in the drive on Hungary, last big Axis satellite nation.

Armistice Worked Out
Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army units moving toward the plains of Hungary advanced 34 miles in 24 hours from Sibiu in Transylvania, taking the rail city of Alba Julia, only 108 miles from the prewar Hungarian frontier.

The Russian statement concerning Bulgaria said that "the Soviet government together with the governments of Great Britain and the United States is now working out conditions of an armistice with Bulgaria."

Russia declared war on Bulgaria Tuesday, and sent her troops into that country only Friday. In addition to Burgas, the town of Razgrad, 34 miles southeast of the Danube port of Ruse, occupied on the first day, was seized yesterday, as well as Shumen, 50 miles west of Varna.

The communique said 21,000 Bulgarian officers and men were taken in the two days of operations against Bulgaria, and also more than 4,000 Germans.

Fall Rains Coming
Berlin said the new drive in Poland toward Krakow was strongly supported by tanks and

Washington Redhead Named Miss America

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 9 (AP)—For the first time in the history of the pageant, the title of "Miss America" was won tonight by a redhead.

She is "Miss Washington, D. C." 19-year-old Venus Dancy of 2810 Military Road, in the nation's capital city, who was one of three of the contest's 11 finalists to win two preliminary awards, one for talent and one for best appearance in a bathing suit.

The Roving Reporter

By ERNIE PYLE

Editor's Note: The mutual esteem of Ernie Pyle and GI Joe is a rather celebrated fact today. While Ernie is on leave, a series of reprints of some of his past columns will trace the development of this entente cordiale. Here is the first one, written after the Draft Act was passed but before America entered the war.

FT. BLISS, Tex., April, 1941—Maybe I wasn't raised to be a soldier, but I'm being one for a little while. Well, kind of a soldier.

Since I'm approximately 80 years old and 45 pounds underweight, they had to create a special branch to fit my special talents. It is called America's First Line of Defense. I am its bulwark. As long as I'm here, the country is safe.

They gave me a private's uniform, and contrary to Army tradition the thing fits. This uniform business came about because I've drifted in here for a few days to write about the new soldiers. They decided to put me through the regular routine just as though I were a genuine incoming selectee. However, it didn't work out in all details. The doctors shuddered and turned away at the first sight of me. And the interviewers found me unqualified for any of the 275 types of Army employment.

So it was finally decided to let me do it my own way, which is to stand around sleepy-like for three or four days and just look and listen.

The commander of this hundred thousand acre post is a hale and hearty veteran named Innis P. Swift. He has just been promoted to major general and so was his grandfather.

He is a big man, and he isn't stuffy. He is the kind who talks to his junior officers in such a manner as this: "Okay, kid." "That's the stuff, boy."

To my surprise, the induction center here turns down one out of every 12 men who come through.

Warships Turn Guns On Palau

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
Warships turned their big guns Wednesday on the Palau Islands in what may be the beginning of the long expected three way amphibious attack on Japanese bases there and at Yap and Halmahera, needed by American troops before they retake the Philippines.

Carrier based planes, in great numbers said the Tokyo radio, joined in the smashing blow. The Tokyo radio said also that battleships and cruisers shelled the Yap Island groups. A Japanese spokesman mentioned a hitherto undisclosed 60 plane raid on Manado, the enemy base at the northern tip of Celebes Island, and a 50 plane strike against Kua Bay area on Halmahera.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters in the Pacific announced the surface and air assault on Palau. The Navy release said buildings and defense installations on Angaur were blasted as the battleships, cruisers and destroyers opened up on the southern most island of the Palau group. Communications facilities at Peleliu Island were torn and bombs blew up supply dumps. Large fires were started on Koror. A Japanese air field, radio station and fuel dump felt the brunt of the attack on Arakabesan Island.

There was little antiaircraft fire. None of the attacking ships, which usually soften up invasion beaches for thousands of troops, suffered any damage in the attack.

The Navy announcement also told of new attacks on the Bonin and Volcano Islands, nearer Japan Proper. Army bombers pounded two Jima on Wednesday and Thursday. One of four Japanese planes in the air was believed destroyed.

Liberators damaged a cargo vessel in the harbor of Chichi Jima in the Bonins. Other air attacks were made on Pagan Island in the Marianas and against Truk, the Marshalls and Nauru Island.

Maj. Gen. Kenryo Sato of the Japanese war ministry broadcast that 20th Bomber Command Superfortresses had followed up their heavy attack on Japanese war industry at Anshan, in southern Manchuria, with a ten plane raid. The enemy ineffectually raided the Superfortress base in retaliation.

In Washington it was announced that one Superfortress in the big raid had failed to return and was presumed to be lost.

WORK RESUMED AT WILLOW RUN

Strikers Return After Dispute Which Made 30,000 Idle

Detroit, Sept. 9 (AP)—Nearly normal production was restored today at the Willow Run bomber plant operated by the Ford Motor company, as workers who struck yesterday returned to their jobs.

Some 2,000 riveters, crane operators and others walked out in a dispute over a transfer of riveters from one department to another, and the huge plant was closed Friday making about 30,000 workers idle.

Approximately half the working force reported on the job this morning, a company spokesman said, but others kept showing up throughout the day and this afternoon the company announced virtually normal output of B-24 bombers. Officials expressed belief completed planes again would roll from the assembly lines by Monday morning as parts shortages were wiped out.

The Dodge truck plant of Chrysler corporation, where 2,000 employees were sent home Friday after a dispute between the management and 34 men in the rear axle assembly, reopened this morning but closed a short time later when the dispute was resumed. A company spokesman said the dispute started over the discharge of a novice employee.

THREE ALLIED ARMIES CLOSE IN ON REICH

BRITISH NEAR WEAK LINK IN HITLER'S SIEGFRIED LINE

BY HOWARD COWAN

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 9. (AP)—Picked troops of the U. S. Third army fought in a storm of artillery fire tonight to hold a bridgehead on the Moselle south of the French city of Metz as the Germans sallied from their menaced Siegfried line to give battle to three Allied armies closing for the showdown struggle for the Reich.

In northern Belgium the British second army hammered out a second crossing of the Albert Canal and fought against fresh German reserves toward the weakest link in the Siegfried line north of Aachen.

The American First army was pounding down the last 18 miles to the German border from the Belgian citadel of Liege and probably was within heavy artillery range of the line's outlying positions although its movements were enveloped in secrecy. The Germans said they had thrown in fresh troops here too.

Situation "Difficult"
The heaviest fighting since Germany was raging along the Moselle, as Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces plumed across the river at one small bridgehead, they were caught in withering artillery, mortar and machine gun fire from camouflaged forts, which waited to yank their landwards after the first wave was across.

American artillery thundered in reply, as the battle mounted in fury, more U. S. batteries were wheeled up to add to the earth-shaking barrage descending on the forts.

A front line dispatch said the situation was a "difficult" one for the troops, all recommended for decorations in previous exploits in France, who were especially selected for the operation.

From the sudden resurgence of enemy resistance after the disasters in France and Belgium, it seemed clear that the German high command had elected to fight now, rather than wait for the lightning to strike in the out-moded system of fortifications known as the Siegfried line.

Tommies Hold On
(The German home radio was heard giving the fatherland a slogan—"They shall not pass"—borrowed from the French of the first world war.)

The Germans also poured reinforcements from The Netherlands into the furious fighting on the British front, but the Tommies won another foothold across the Albert Canal, which guards the northern approaches to the enemy's frontier, and held on.

(The Germans appeared more concerned over the Third army threat, the Berlin radio saying that "huge forces of men and material" were massed in the Metz

NEW JAP DRIVE MENACES CHINA

Chungking Fears Thrust From Indo-China On Kunming

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Japanese driving down the Hunan-Kwangsi railway have entered the town of Tungau, 90 miles from Kweilin, a Chinese commune announced today, and a fresh enemy threat loomed from Indo-China.

Chungking quarters anxiously awaited developments in fear that the war might be prolonged for many months by a Japanese splitting of China in half.

If they should take the important center of Kweilin, the Japanese might be inspired to make a difficult and costly but entirely feasible drive from Indo-China to Kunming as a means of nullifying the prospective opening of China's new overland communications across Burma.

Intelligence reports say the enemy already is massing forces in Indo-China for an incursion into China.

The Chinese nevertheless were fighting stubbornly. They reported that fierce combat still was in progress in the streets of Tungau (which Japanese radio claimed was entirely occupied), and also in the suburbs of the fallen American air base city of Lingling.

Submarine Scourge Smashed By Allies

Washington, Sept. 9 (AP)—With the principal U-boat operating bases in the Bay of Biscay neutralized by Allied operations in France, enemy submarines have become "relatively ineffectual," President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill said tonight.

In a statement released through the Office of War Information the two Allied leaders described the "exchange rate" between Allied merchant ships sunk and U-boats destroyed as "profitable."

area—25 miles from the Saar—and that "large-scale assaults on the Saar border are imminent."

(Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, said the Third army had "started a frontal attack against the town of Metz.")

More than 1,000 U. S. heavy bombers for the second straight day plastered rail and industrial targets in the Ruhr and Rhine valleys, while deafty Black Widow American night fighters pounced on troop columns trying to move east across the Rhine under cover of darkness.

The big German counter-attack against Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's north flank rolled out of Luxembourg through the enemy stronghold of Thionville and apparently tried to come behind the Third army fighting before Metz and its bridgeheads across the Moselle River to the south.

Fighting became wild and so confused that even generals were firing point blank at the enemy, but when the last shots died away the forests were strewn with wounded and the hulks of 30 tanks of the force of 40 which paced the attack.

More than 700 prisoners were taken within a few hours.

BY SID FEFER

Rome, Sept. 9 (AP)—Two Allied columns coming up from southern France struck today to within 25 miles of the sentinel city of Belfort, whose fortifications bar the way through a mountain gap into the plains before Germany's frontier on the Rhine, 30 miles east of the fortress.

The Germans, who fought hard in Besancon, broke and ran under American blows and Allied headquarters said doughboys now had covered at least half of the 47 miles from Besancon to Belfort.

It was likely that patrols, moving swiftly after resistance was crushed in Besancon's streets, had advanced even nearer to the city. (A Swiss frontier dispatch Friday said that the battle for the city had begun.)

French troops fighting up through the Jura mountains seized the towns of Pierre-Fontaine and Maiche, the latter

STATE COLLEGE OPENS SEPT. 19

12 Per Cent Increase In Enrollment Is Expected

East Lansing (AP)—Michigan State college, initiating a drastic revision of its undergraduate program, anticipates a 12 per cent increase in enrollment when it starts its 90th year of activity Sept. 19.

Registrar Robert S. Linton said today he expected the war-shrunk enrollment to exceed 3,800 students, a little more than half its pre-war size. In addition, the college will be host to about 750 soldiers and air corps reservists training on the campus.

New students will be registered September 19 through 22 and returning students September 21 and 22. Classes will start September 25.

Linton said he expected at least 2,500 returning students and 1,311 high school graduates. Of the enrolling freshmen, 1,101 are women and 210 are men.

An enrollment of 125 discharged servicemen is anticipated and the college will grant them special reception arrangements and assistance in returning to scholastic life.

25 miles south of Belfort.

These twin drives seemed to be outracing German forces trying to hold open the roads branching out from Dijon, 47 miles west of Besancon.

Bridges Destroyed

The Germans were offering stiff resistance to the French moving up along a 40-mile front to within 25 miles of Dijon at one point. But if they let the Americans reach Belfort before them they may never get back to the fatherland, because they must take a longer, northerly route menaced all the way by the U. S. Third army striking toward the Rhine and by ambush parties of French Patriots.

Southwest of Besancon the Germans had destroyed nearly every bridge across the Doubs, slowing any pursuers from that quarter who might try to cut in behind Dijon.

More than 170 miles south of the battle for Belfort, American forces plunging deep into the Alps where peaks rear to 13,000 feet were attacking Oranien, seven miles from the Italian frontier.

Here the Germans were trying to hold open the St. Genevre pass into Italy for stranded units long since by-passed by the march of the Americans and French to the north.

Overhead the Allies had an aggressive aerial cover which destroyed or damaged 12 locomotives, six of them caught in the area of Belfort hauling trains loaded with soldiers. A number of the troop carrying cars were destroyed.

DEWEY OPENS UP MICHIGAN GOP CAMPAIGN

BY G. MILTON KELLY

Lansing, Sept. 9 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, returning to his native Michigan on a campaign tour, promised agricultural groups here today in conference that if he is elected president he would cut short federal "red tape" which he said now enmeshes and hampers the farmer and told labor groups his record as governor of New York established that he would be a president friendly to labor.

Dewey came home to Michigan to participate here in a round of political conferences, planning to spend tonight with his mother, Mrs. George M. Dewey, at his boyhood home, Owosso, before swinging out of the state again on a campaign tour into the west.

Conferences Started

Charles Figy, state commissioner of agriculture; Stanley M. Powell, legislative representative of the Michigan State Farm Bureau; Speaker Howard Nugent of the state house of representatives and State Representative Maurice E. Post of Rockford said Dewey "gave us his promise that if he becomes president, he will see to it that federal intervention in the affairs of farmers is held to a minimum, and that federal agricultural agencies and programs are conducted by practical and experienced men." They asserted this would be a policy which does not now prevail.

Figy said he complained that because of "red tape," he as state commissioner of agriculture has found it necessary to make as many as 20 calls to Washington before reaching the proper source with whom to deal in solving an agricultural problem, and that Dewey said he would see to it that this was corrected if he won the presidency.

Dewey, in a round of conferences with special groups, embarked upon a program of "selling himself to Republican leaders of his native state, and for the most part they said at close of the conferences that he had achieved signal success in this.

Labor Leaders Cautious
Leaders of a Michigan Federation of Labor delegation which conferred with Dewey were more cautious in describing their reaction to him. The Democratic party has claimed rock-ribbed allegiance of labor groups in Michigan, and Democrats have openly allied themselves in the campaign with leaders of the Congress of Industrial Relations, rival of the AFL.

George W. Dean, state commissioner of labor and president of the Michigan Federation of Labor, said he believed the AFL delegation members were "impressed" after entering the meeting with Dewey in a "let's see what he offers" spirit.

Dean and John Reid, executive secretary of the Federation, said Dewey gave his promise that if he becomes president he will strive to preserve gains labor has achieved in the past 10 or 20 years, and that his record as New York governor was indicative of his sympathy for labor's problems.

The farm group said Dewey "made a hit" by declaring he would see to it that fruit farmers administer federal fruit programs, and that all the way down the line each program be administered by men who know the problem and are engaged in this branch of agriculture.

Leslie P. Kefauver, of Bay City, state corrections commissioner and a leader of a delegation representing veterans organizations, said Dewey "sold us that he had a sensible and realistic approach to the veterans problems." He said Dewey appointed General Hugh A. Drum, former commander of the army's eastern defense command, to head his New York state veterans affairs organization. He said Dewey told the group that if he is elected, experienced military personnel would be chosen to handle national veterans problems.

WEEK IS ROUGH ON STOCK LIST

BY VICTOR EURANK

New York, Sept. 9 (AP)—The stock market today concluded its worst week since the July crash, with the Dow Jones industrial average off 1.6 points at 53.2 in the brief session.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.6 points at 53.2 in the brief session. The 2-hour aggregate of 275,696 shares was a low since July 29. It compared with 374,470 in the week ending July 27. The 2-hour aggregate of 614 issues registering, a minimum since May 13, 264 were down, 147 up and 203 unchanged.

Prominent on the offside today were U. S. Steel, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Warner Bros. Du Pont and General Electric. Chrysler wiped out a loss at the finish and emerged with a point advance. Dupont Aircraft did the same, closing up 1/4. Minor improvement was held by General Motors, Standard Oil (N. J.), Allied Chemical, Goodrich and J. C. Penney.

Bonds did nothing much either way. At Chicago grains steadied after tumbling the week ending July 27. The 2-hour session wheat was up 5/8 to off 1 3/4 of a cent a bushel. Cotton was 15 to 45 cents a bale in arrears.

TRENDS IRREGULAR

New York, Sept. 9 (AP)—Price trends were irregular in today's bond market, with rails showing selective improvement and utility and low yield issues a little lower on balance.

Transactions totaled $2,414,806, face value, compared with $1,908,700 in the previous Saturday session, August 12.

artillery and admitted Russian breaches.

Krakow is only 48 miles from Germany, and Berlin said the Russians were attacking in the area of Kosno, 83 miles southeast of Krakow, and near Delina, 63 miles east of the stronghold. Other Soviet units last were reported only 35 miles northeast of Krakow.

Disclosure of these fresh Red army blows in advance of the autumn rains which will turn the Polish plains into quagmires came as other troops were pushing toward Hungary over the Transylvanian plateau in Romania and racing across Bulgaria toward Yugoslavia and Greece.

The Bulgarians were not resisting the Russians, and since the Sofia government now has declared war on Germany the Bulgarians probably will be thrown into the great Allied effort to trap quickly the bulk of the 250,000 Germans estimated to be cut off in the lower Balkan peninsula.

Colonel Acheson commended the squadron personnel for giving "unsparingly of their time and efforts in contributing to the successful operation of the wing," which has directed aerial operations by B-24 Liberators of the Fifteenth air force against strategic Nazi targets in France, Italy, Austria, southern Germany and the Balkans. ### England Acts—We Fail

DESPITE the desperate necessity for more and more money to press World War II to a victorious conclusion, millions of dollars are being wasted in the support of outmoded war and other agencies.

While England, until the last two weeks, the most bombed nation in the world, has set an early date for the complete demobilization of its civilian defense army, in every state of the United States, including Michigan, elaborate civilian defense organizations are being continued, in spite of the general agreement that the danger of enemy attacks on this continent passed many months ago.

Michigan's Civilian Defense Council, headed by a high salaried official and "assisted" by a crew of some eighty pay-rollers, is still functioning in the state capital, and it is presumed in every capital of every state in the Union.

The outmoded civilian defense organizations constitute but one of scores of similarly useless federal bureaus that are being supported by taxpayers' funds, so desperately needed in support of our fighting forces. It is likely, if the truth could be known, an investigation would reveal the presence in the national capital of at least skeleton organizations of the late "NRA," "WPA" and other similarly useless alphabetical agencies.

The administration at Washington has proven by its record of the past that there is little or no hope for any retrenchment in governmental costs, as long as a national election is impending and pay-roller votes are needed.

It constitutes one of the big reasons why the people will demand a change in our national administration at the November election.

Postwar Recreational Needs

OUTDOOR Life, the sportsman's magazine, has launched a nationwide advertising and publicity campaign to draw the public's attention to the probability that the nation's fish and game resources will undergo a heavy drain in the post-war era.

The magazine recalls that there was a 30 per cent increase in the demand for fishing and hunting licenses after the first World War. Then, there were 5,000,000 men in the armed forces, but the number has been more than doubled in this conflict.

Less than two per cent of the almost 12,000,000 men in the armed forces previously handled guns. During their service, they have become trained in the use of firearms and the enjoyment of outdoor living. Counting the stay at homes, it is estimated that America must be prepared to take care of the hunting and fishing needs of about 22,000,000 men.

Wildlife programs take some time to get under way. Before the war ends, the conservation and sportsman's clubs should become active again as in past years. They should survey their hunting and fishing resources, and determine what should be done to make the woods and streams more productive of wildlife.

When the boys come marching home, they are entitled to find good hunting and awaiting them. What are we going to do about it in the Upper Peninsula?

On Right Track

DELTA county potato growers have joined with others of the state in the formation of the Michigan Potato Development association, which plans to conduct an extensive advertising campaign to promote the consumption of Michigan-grown quality tubers.

Under the plan outlined at the meeting of Delta county farmers Friday night, members of the new association would contribute 50 cents per acre and wholesale dealers $1.00 for each carload of potatoes shipped out. These contributions from all over the state are expected to yield a fund of about $50,000, which would be used judiciously in carrying out a well-planned advertising campaign.

Michigan growers are getting tired of seeing housewives in their home market area going to the store and asking for Maine and Idaho potatoes. They know their potatoes are just as good, if not better, and the only explanation for the success of the competing products is that persistent advertising and other promotion work carried on their behalf.

Through the sponsorship of the Cadillac Potato Growers Exchange, Delta county farmers conducted a small promotional campaign in Milwaukee last year and achieved worthwhile results. Those initial efforts, although modest, have convinced these growers that advertising pays.

Nazis' Last Hope

AS THE Nazis come closer to defeat, we may expect that they will resort to the old "fear of Communism" bugaboo in an effort to obtain a soft peace.

Unfortunately, William Bullitt, former American ambassador to Moscow, played into their hands recently when he wrote an article for Life magazine, which served to arouse some of the old suspicions toward the Soviet Union. It can be depended on that the Nazi propaganda master, Joseph Goebbels, will make good use of the Bullitt article, and add some ideas of his own for good measure.

According to the Foreign Policy association, the Nazis are again trying to put the impression across that Germany is not fighting for its own interests but to halt the spread of Bolshevism in Europe. They constantly dwell upon the allegedly irreconcilable conflict that exists between Christianity and Communism.

To those who have suffered at the hands of the Nazi soldiers and Gestapo in the Axis-occupied countries the Berlin propaganda line is unconvincing. The horrors of mass executions by the Nazis at Lublin and Lidice far outweigh in their minds the promises or claims made by Germany.

Of course, the Nazi propagandists realize that their propaganda is ineffective in Axis-occupied Europe. Consequently, they are directing it primarily to the United States, where they hope that the desire to protect private property from the possible depredations of Communism might yet soften the peace terms imposed on Germany.

By this time, however, the American people should know enough not to place any stock in Nazi propaganda. The constant problem, of course, will be for them to discern where the propaganda is coming from.

Other Editorial Comments

GEORGE W. NORRIS
(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

One of America's great and most beloved public servants has passed into history with the death of former Senator George W. Norris.

Few are the political leaders of our nation who have held so unswervingly to the democratic ideal, to the cause of righteousness and integrity in public life as this fighting son of the midwest. Fewer still of those leaders who did not achieve the presidency have left so enduring an imprint on the political character of the country.

Many another, it is true, has burned with the same zeal for political liberalism which actuated every battle which George Norris put up in his long fight for the common man, but the Nebraskan stands above most of them because he achieved so many victories for his cause.

When he entered Congress in 1902 he quickly realized that it was often necessary to fight fire with fire. He selected as his first crusade a change in the rules of the House which would end the one-man rule of that body by Speaker Joe Cannon. He won his fight by making himself a pastmaster in parliamentary procedure so that, eight years later he was able to catch the powerful boss off guard and force through the new rules which restored Congress to the chosen representatives of the people.

By similar application he achieved other goals—the TVA development, whose success has been due in no small part to Norris' foresight in divorcing its operation from Washington bureaucracy; liberal labor legislation, reformation of the government in his home state, and the lame duck amendment to the American Constitution.

It was inevitable that George Norris should become a firm supporter of the Roosevelt administration which adopted so many of his causes. One likes to think that had he been younger and more vigorous as the New Deal grew in power he would have seen more clearly and warned against those excesses and mistakes which have come to constitute a real threat to the democracy.

That it was not partisanship which kept him silent in the face of this threat was demonstrated when he took his friend, Franklin Roosevelt, severely and publicly to task for his appointment of members of corrupt political machines to places of public trust. To the end, George Norris refused any compromise with the forces of evil. His death is, as President Roosevelt has said, a national bereavement.

DON'T QUIT NOW
(Grand Rapids Press)

In our enthusiasm over optimistic developments in all war theaters, we are likely to overlook the continuing responsibilities which rest upon us here at home. One of these responsibilities involves the seemingly trivial matter of conserving waste fats and oils.

Even after Germany is defeated, American fighting men will continue to need plenty of munitions and medical supplies, the manufacture of which requires vast amounts of fats and oils. Despite this fact the national fat salvage committee warns that American housewives are letting down on the salvage job.

In addition to the continuing need of fats and oils for munitions and medicines, the committee reminds us that increasing food demands in the rehabilitation of Europe are almost certain to prolong the shortage of fats and oils throughout the coming year. The need for kitchen conservation and salvage efforts obviously is just as great today as ever. American housewives who already have done so much to make wartime salvage a tremendous success will be performing a patriotic and humanitarian service by continuing to save waste fats and oils as persistently as they have in the past.

Numerous beauty parlors were found still operating in the small towns of France. And now the whole country has a new face.

Postwar business motto: pull together or pull to pieces.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

Those who expect chaos in Germany after defeat are making a poor appraisal of the strategy of the Allies. That strategy, as we now see it revealed, aims at economic paralysis no less than at military annihilation.

The immediate economic prospects of Germany point to its being a thoroughly subdued nation before cold weather, rather than a nation rent by civil war.

As has been pointed out over and over, the loss of Rumania means the reduction of German oil supplies by one-third to one-half. This loss of oil has already thrown Germany back upon her coal supplies, and that is where Patton enters the scene.

Two-thirds of all German coal supplies are in the Ruhr Basin, the Rhineland and the adjoining Saar Basin. Without this coal, not only the military machine, but all domestic life in the Reich must stop. This means economic strangulation, not in months, but in weeks.

—ATTACK WELL TIMED—

The two lines of attack, one through the Saar, the other through Aachen, have economic as well as military purposes. Production in the Saar Basin must already be at a standstill. The other secondary source of coal, north of Aachen, the so-called Warm Coal Basin, is also either invaded or immobilized. Beyond these centers in the Ruhr Basin proper, which contains 60 per cent of all German coal, this Basin begins at the Rhine at Duisburg and runs 40 to 50 miles inland. It lies a little over 50 miles from the Dutch border and the city of Aachen, and is thus exposed to very convenient air attacks.

The attack upon Germany could hardly have been better timed than for the month of September, for in this month, Germany's transportation system is under a tremendous burden. The railroads must carry the newly harvested grain, potatoes and sugar beets to processing centers. Coal deliveries are always very heavy in the weeks before cold weather. Even in normal times, Germany has heard again and again, in this season, of the "lack of wagons and boats" in the Ruhr Basin.

—NETWORK OF RAILROADS—

The vast network of railways which serve these coal regions centers in the Chicago of Germany, the twin cities of Duisburg and Ruhrort. Bombs can hardly miss the mass of tracks and loading machinery in this region.

A highly industrialized nation, thus attached by vastly superior forces in regions of such vital importance, is not likely to break into confusion. What is much more likely is the rapid slowing down of its energy, followed by helplessness. When that happens, quick occupation by the Allies will make revolution or partisan warfare simply impossible.

Right Behind You, Son

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

DONOR DOINGS—If you were one of the approximately 34,000 people of Delta county who did not give blood at the recent blood donor's clinic, you will be interested in knowing just how it feels to go "through the mill."

The Bugler reported on schedule at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon to find several other slightly bug-eyed people already there. We talked with some restraint while waiting our turn at the registration desk in the first room.

The Junior high gym was divided into four rooms by canvas curtains for the clinic.

From the registration desk you moved to the "move up" row of chairs, still clutching the form that gave age, sex, address, place of birth and other pertinent information. In the "move up" line you finally plunked (it was really only a short wait) into a chair in front of a table, facing a charming, but efficient young nurse.

THE PUMP UP—"Roll up your left sleeve, please, and place your arm on the table," advised this goddess of healing. She then expertly wound what looked like part of an inner-tube around your upper arm, and with a small rubber bulb pumped air into the rubber wrapping, inflating it to the point where you understood how a strangulator hernia must feel.

"Hold this under your tongue, please," said another angel of mercy, poking a thermometer into your mouth. While you sat there feeling the pressure on your arm going down, the thermometer went up—just to assure the nurses there was still warmth in the aging carcass.

"This is rather a mean thing to do," said the nurse on the other side of the table. She wrote something on a form (must have been the blood pressure reading) and then pricked the end of your right index finger with a gadget that looked like a midjet fountain pen. She squeezed some blood from the finger on a pad of cotton, compared the color with a chart, seemed satisfied and threw the cotton away.

IN FOR THE BLEEDING—"I guess you've smoked that long enough," said the nurse and removed the thermometer. You were then escorted to another row of chairs near the entrance to Room 2—the "bleeding room." Still clutching your registration card, you sat there drinking a glass of fruit juice and trying to keep from shivering even a tremor.

But there wasn't much time to do any trembling.

"You're next," said Dr. A. B. Mitchell, state health department blood plasma program director, poking his head under the curtain.

There were four rows of hospital cots along the wall. You sat, and then reclined on the only vacant cot at the moment. Fresh paper covers were on the pillow and at the foot of the bed where your feet rested.

"Sure," said Dr. Mitchell, "this is going to be the biggest clinic in the U. P."

He placed a cold dab of liquid in the bend of your left arm. "Never less than 70 a day here since we opened. It's going to beat Menominee and Marquette."

There was the prick of a needle at about the same place the dab was felt—probably a local anesthetic.

VETERAN DONORS—"We've had some war veterans come in—men who have been overseas and some who received plasma. They say they got some civilian blood and now they are ready to return it. No, there hasn't been any

10 Years Ago—1934

Munising—An effort will be made Friday to revive interest in the Alger County Sportsman's association at the meeting in the office of T. J. Walters, justice of the peace. Attempts will be made to increase interest and start action for a planning program to restock the practically denuded fishing streams.

here yet.

A tight strap is placed around your upper left arm. Then quickly, deftly, the needle is injected.

"Open and close your hand slowly—and give a little squeeze when it's closed," says the doc.

You do that quite faithfully.

When the doc says "quite ready" you bend again you're quite ready to talk some more, but he has little time for answering questions. Out comes the needle, up goes your arm. You hold a piece of gauze tightly on the place for a moment until the doc slaps a generous strip of adhesive over it.

Before you know it you're up—and being led into another room by a nurse who looks like the kind they picture in the magazines. The doc goes to call in another donor. Apparently they don't give the beds a chance to cool off.

COFFEE AND TALK—In the other room—a "refreshments room"—there is a nurse presiding at a table on which sandwiches and cookies are piled generously. These refreshments are prepared and served by Escanaba PTA women.

"Have some coffee—and take a sandwich. Nobody eats less than two," says the smiling nurse. "Do they ever faint? Not here," she replies.

More coffee, another sandwich, cookies and a cigarette.

"Should have a little nip after this," says one of recuperating donors.

The nurse laughs. "Some people here must think we do serve a little drink," she said. "A man came in the other day and asked if we did. I told him no, but if he wanted a drink he could stop in down the street. I guess he thought I was serious, for he drew himself up and said: 'I never touch the stuff myself!'"

And so out and back to work—and if it wasn't for the adhesive tape you wouldn't know you'd given a pint of blood.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—The President really let loose some fireworks at last week's Cabinet meeting shortly after Charles E. Wilson resigned as WPB executive vice chairman after publicly blasting WPB chief Donald Nelson. The Cabinet members, who usually meet with a snail, wise-cracking President, pricked up their ears at his vigorous denunciation of businessmen.

"Here we are at the most important phase of the war," said Roosevelt icily, "and these businessmen act like a bunch of children. They pick up their baseball bats and go home."

The President went on to say that those who are schooled in government may have their differences, but know how to iron them out and get along together in the end. After delivering quite a lecture on name-calling and the inability of businessmen to get along together, he turned to Secretary of State Hull and said:

"It takes Democrats like you and me to run this country, doesn't it, Cordell?"

—MRS. LUCE'S NARROW SQUEAK—

Democratic and Republican Congressmen who hotly debated how much money FDR spent for warships on his trip to Pearl Harbor, and how much Mrs. Roosevelt spent going to New Zealand, did not know that one of their own number had a narrow squeak from being in the same category.

She is beautiful Mrs. Clare Luce, GOP Congresswoman from Connecticut, who contemplated an airplane trip to the South Pacific, Australia and China. It was fatherly Democrat Andrew Jackson May of Kentucky who saved her.

What happened was that, after Alabama's Joe Starnes had ridden all over the U. S. A. in military planes as a member of the Appropriations Military subcommittee, it was finally arranged that such junkets be approved first by a subcommittee, Congressman May, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, appointed this subcommittee, keeps a tight rein over it. If a Congressman wants to get a special Army plane, he comes to May.

So when Mrs. Luce broached the idea of getting a special Army plane to take her to the South Pacific, China and other war theatres, kindly Congressman May replied:

"I thought you Republicans were against all that. So much hell has been raised about Eleanor going to the South Pacific. I didn't think you'd want to do anything like that. How are you going to crack down on Eleanor if you do?"

Mrs. Luce grinned appreciatively and walked away. Then she turned and waved at Andrew Jackson May. Maybe it dawned that he had done her a great favor.

NOTE—Actually, Mrs. Roosevelt traveled to New Zealand, not in a special plane, but occupying one seat in a regular transport plane, along with many other passengers. These planes operate to New Zealand every day or oftener. Various members of the Cabinet, the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Treasury, and Chairman of the Maritime Commission Land do have special planes however, and for a while these planes remained idle most of the time. Admiral Ben Moreell recently took a trip to Chicago with his special plane partly empty.

—SPLIT OVER INDIA—

Nobody will admit it publicly but, inside the Roosevelt Administration, something the same split is taking place regarding India as occurred regarding the question of heading off war with Japan before Pearl Harbor.

Long before Pearl Harbor, a group of young men in the State Department urged and implored Secretary of State Hull to cut off exports of oil and scrap iron to Japan. They were supported by Secretaries Ickes, Morgenthau, Stimson and the late Secretary of the Navy Knox.

Today there is a revolt among some of the same type of men regarding the fact that the Allied campaign in Burma has bogged down, due to the do-nothing attitude of the British in India. They feel that Ambassador Phillips should have been supported in his forthright report on India to the President and that the State Department made a serious mistake in bowing to the British by withdrawing him from London. Also they feel that India may be a breeder of wars in years to come if its problems are not ironed out.

One of the young State Department officials who led the revolt against U. S. appeasement of Japan before Pearl Harbor was John P. Davies, Jr., an expert on Far Eastern affairs. He is now State Department representative attached to General Stilwell, and today he is leading the same kind of a fight regarding British lethargy in India.

When the Allied campaign in Burma first began to bog down, General Stilwell sent Davies from Burma to India to make a survey of what was holding things up. Davies' report is one of the most revealing documents on file in the State Department, and if a Senate committee probing the year's delay in Burma ever reads it, it will get an earful. Only trouble is that Davies' report was merely filed. Nothing was done about it.

Last year's profits of a pop dispenser in a government building in Washington topped the pay of a congressman by $4,000. There's more in soft drinks than in soft soap.

PREDATORS ARE ON INCREASE

Foxes Raising Havoc In Spalding; Chickens And Hogs Lost

Predatory animals, mainly foxes and coyotes, are causing heavy livestock losses in the Spalding-Powers area, farmers there have reported.

The increase in foxes has been particularly evident and many of them have been seen by farmers in that area. Several have been killed by motorists.

Theodore Fazer, of Spalding, prominent hog producer, who lost a 400 pound pig last year, presumably by an attack by foxes, had 100 young pigs, only several days old, killed and carried off by foxes this year. Earl Dubois, of Spalding, lost 800 chickens to the foxes in a single day, all the chickens being well grown birds.

That the foxes scouted off with chickens is beyond denial because Mrs. Holger Nelson saw a fox run off with the last of the chickens. The fox had the chicken firmly in its mouth and made a speedy dash into the woods with the bird.

Raccoons Increasing
Walter Joziatitis is another farmer who has sustained loss because of the predators. Joziatitis lost five full grown ducks.

Farmers in the Spalding-Powers area reported that the increase in the number of foxes has resulted principally by the escape of a number of black foxes from

Old Orchard Farm

Dairy Herd Will Be Auctioned Off Sept. 30

Silo filling is the order of the day out at Old Orchard farm, the Flat Rock experimental farm at Flat Rock, and on most farms in this section of the peninsula. Heavy rains, early in the week, hindered the corn cutting job at Old Orchard, so that the actual silo filling operation could not be started until Friday morning. And at Old Orchard it's a strictly cooperative job. Leo Goreau's machine was set up in the barnyard to process the corn and Leo came over with his team to help in the hauling from the field. August Choinard, another neighbor, added his team, wagon and himself to the effort and Walter Nelson and his helper, Billy Taylor, with Old Orchard's team and wagon, completed the crew and its equipment.

Because of drought damage it was found necessary to cut for ensilage more than half a 14 acre field that had been originally intended to produce only mature corn. It may not be possible to get all of the corn that has been cut in the silo, but it will be packed solidly to the very top and if any fodder is left over it will be shocked in the field and used up for general livestock roughage during the coming winter. Because some of the leaves on the corn stalks were burned and dried, more water than usual was used in storing the ensilage, and the crew believes that a fine grade of semi-green winter feed for Old Orchard's milk herd, had been provided.

Filling The Silo

As soon as Old Orchard's silo is filled, the farm crew will move over to Leo Goreau's farm, to assist him in his silo filling job. It is only by returning to the old custom of "trading work" that farmers of the nation are able to secure the man-power necessary to raise and harvest every possible ounce of food, so desperately needed in these war times. In the Flat Rock community this plan is being generally followed this fall and, so far, satisfactory results are being accomplished.

While Old Orchard expects to husk several hundred bushels of mature corn this fall, that crop this season will approach closer to a crop failure status than ever before in the history of the farm. In previous years Old Orchard's corn fields have never produced less than 100 bushels baskets of cob corn per acre. This season if half that yield can be reached the farm manager will be thoroughly satisfied. He has learned definitely, through his experience of this season, that it takes good, rich soil to produce a bumper crop of mature corn in this or any other section. This year's corn field was over on the Tom Jones place, where commercial fertilizer had to be depended upon to give the maximum fertility to the soil. On all the home fields, commercial fertilizers are supplemented by applications of just plain old barnyard manure and that seems to be the combination necessary to best produce corn, or any other crop.

But Old Orchard's manager is getting some satisfaction out of the fact that at least two of his neighbors, who may have been influenced in growing mature corn by Old Orchard's success in the past, are going to harvest this fall, close to normal crops. Both Frankie Barron and Earl Smith have fine fields of that grain. To be husked this fall and Barron is putting up a monster corn-crib in his barnyard, indicating that he intends to make mature corn one of his important grain crops in the future.

Farm Auction Planned

The date of Old Orchard's milk herd dispersal sale has finally been set for Saturday afternoon, Sept. 30, starting at 12:30 o'clock. Col. William Darland, of Marinette, one of the veteran auctioneers of this section, has been engaged to conduct the sale and the Gillett Sales company, of Gillett, Wis., will serve as clerks of the sale, thus providing credit facilities for buyers who wish to purchase some of Old Orchard's fine stock on a partial payment plan. All of the stock to be sold has been subjected to both Bangs and tuberculin tests and a certificate of good health will accompany each animal sold at the sale.

Old Orchard's manager received some good news concerning his new Milking Shorthorn herd, shortly to be installed as the foundation dual purpose herd at the farm. A two year old registered heifer, produced a fine heifer calf during the past week and the youngster will accompany the mother and other animals when they are delivered here about Oct. 1.

There's a lot of silence and a consequent degree of loneliness for Ring, the farm dog, out around the farm-house these days. The Harrison girls who have been the dog's constant companions throughout the summer are in the process of fitting back to their school work in Detroit and from now until next vacation time, the object of their combined affections, will be left much to his own devices. But he has always been resourceful and while his days may not be quite as happy, they will be busy days and that always helps to pass the time away.

although they have passed their draft board's medical exam. Many are rejected for defective hearing. Many others are unfit because of plain undernourishment. Now and then they get a man with a penitentiary record, and he is rejected too. The Army doesn't want mothers worrying about their boys associating with prison veterans.

They had one selectee who was tattooed from head to foot. On each arm was a naked woman. That doesn't go in the new Army. But this boy was eager to get in. A month later he came back. He had hitch-hiked to San Antonio to find a tattoo artist, and now both women were decorously dressed.

Occasionally they get somebody who is burned up about being drafted, and remains sulky all through his processing. But on the whole the boys are eager to do whatever is asked of them.

Almost without exception, they're scared the first couple of days. The officers and men who handle them take this into consideration, and are pretty easy with them. Some of them are so frightened they shake all over.

They are broken into drill grapple. The food is excellent. Officers talk to the homesick ones. The Army is easier for all these thousands of selectees to like military life, and especially for them to write that fact to their folks.

I went through the reception center with four white boys and six negroes, all on their first day in the Army. One of the white boys put down his birthplace as Germany, and his nearest of kin a sister in London. His name was Henry D. Heckscher. He and his sister left Germany in 1937, for London, and he came to America in '39. He left Germany partly to escape conscription, and over here he ran smack into it. But he didn't seem to feel badly about it.

Health Director Offers Advice On Polio Prevention

Robert Lequia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lequia, who is at the Children's Clinic at Marquette, is under the care of Dr. Elzinga, orthopedic specialist, Dr. M. Cooperstock, director of the clinic, has informed Dr. M. A. Elstein.

Dr. Cooperstock reported that the Lequia youngster had "very definite signs of acute poliomyelitis, the medical term."

"Poliomyelitis is a contagious, infectious disease caused by a virus that gains entrance into the system through the nasal passages or abrasions of the skin. This virus attacks the vital centers of the spinal cord and paralyzes the muscles that are controlled by these centers."

"The disease manifests itself like a mild cold. The child complains of a mild headache and has some chills and fever. Parents often consider the case a mild cold and usually treat the child with home remedies. To their amazement, in a few days the child shows evidence of paralysis."

"The safest way is for parents to keep children away from persons who may have colds. Call in a physician as soon as the child complains of a headache or cold. Feed your children good, wholesome food to build up their resistance."

"The local health unit has a number of splendid pamphlets on the prevention of poliomyelitis. They are available to the public without charge."

This Will Solve Furlough Problem

Camp Clairborne, La. (AP) — The executive officer happened to glance at a form for a circular letter being prepared by special service Corporal Alfred A. Duckett. The form read: "To all hepers: Dig this jive, Jack; it's straight."

The executive officer's look of amazement grew into an approving grin as he read further. It developed that Duckett's letter to the men of the regiment was an appeal to them to observe furlough deadlines. The letter skipped the usual "crime and punishment" angle and explained that men overstaying their furloughs made it tough on others in camp waiting to go.

The jive letter has been distributed throughout the 1310th regiment. Officers say it should "help" solve the furlough problem.

your goddam mouth!"

Most of the boys learn to take this stuff and laugh about it. To others it is hard. But both kinds are sincere in wanting to do any thing required of them to help build up America's defense. If they happen to like Army life, that's so much velvet. If they don't they're thoroughly willing to make the best of it, because they feel a duty to America.

That sounds a little flag-wavy, but it is something genuine which has impressed me very much.

Bullitt Turns Up Again As Real Trouble-Maker

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—You sometimes have the feeling that this is where you came in—that the film is repeating itself in a grim sort of way. The familiar names bounce back into the headlines—Chateaufort, Thierry, Belleau Woods.

What is more disquieting is to find, at the start of the postwar drama, that some of the old actors are cheering out of the wings again. William C. Bullitt, who should surely have the grace to keep out of sight, once more in the familiar role of trouble-maker.

He has given new currency, through the medium of Life magazine, to the most ancient Nazi propaganda weapon: The suspicion that Soviet Russia intends to communize the European continent. Bullitt attributes this view to Italians whom he interviewed in Rome, but his own prejudices and bitter personal resentments are plainly visible.

Poor Record Reviewed
His record should be judged in the light of his unfortunate, yes, disastrous, record in world affairs. Because it is so directly related to this latest effort to muddy the water, it's worth reviewing here.

Bullitt, a man of wealth, a dilettante in the arts, was sent by President Roosevelt to be the first American ambassador to the Soviet Union. He had supported Roosevelt in '32 and was known to be friendly to Communist Russia. He was one of a generation of wishful, wishful pinks who went to Moscow expecting to find the millennium.

Ambassador Bullitt was quickly disillusioned. It was the beginning of the brutal purge period. The Russians were intensely suspicious of the western Democracies, and with good reason. In the files of the state department are shrill protests from Ambassador Bullitt about the treatment accorded him and his servants in Moscow.

Then Sent to France
It was not long before he persuaded his friend, the president, to transfer him out of a post for which he had been ideally unsuited. As a further reward for loyalty, he was made ambassador to France.

Into the swirling intrigue of a France on the brink of ruin, Bullitt plunged with all his own love of the subtle as contra the direct and straightforward. Entertaining elaborately, he became part of the set that was soon to be shown to the world as utterly bankrupt. Even the few politicians with good intentions were hopelessly enmeshed in the tangle of corruption.

Throughout his stay in Paris, Bullitt indulged the phobia he had acquired in his great Moscow disillusionment. His bitterness toward the Soviets colored his attitude toward the Spanish Civil War, and may have been one reason why the state department failed to perceive that this was not merely a civil war, but the first battle in Hitler's conquest of the world.

For the ambassador and his rich aristocratic friends in Paris, it was so simple. The Spanish government was dominated by "The Reds," and therefore it, must be wrong.

Ran for Mayor, Too

After the fall of France, Bullitt was given one or two minor government posts, but most of his time was taken up with an intrigue which had the end result of tragically weakening the effectiveness of the state department. There was also a brief and slightly ludicrous interval in which he ran for mayor of Philadelphia, making every mistake that could possibly be made.

Devoid of any government position, he turns up in Europe as a writer for Life and, curiously, in the uniform of a French officer. This perhaps is a part of the politics of this strange political year. He is adding his bit to the overwhelming difficulty of achieving anything like a decent world.

Undoubtedly his aristocratic friends in Rome shuddered over Russia's intentions, just as they once shuddered in Paris. But such shudders out of the dead past are not calculated to convince Russia of the sincerity of our friendship. Pravda angrily calls Bullitt "A Bankrupt Spy."

Realistic men who know the Soviets believe they will cooperate into a reasonable adjustment of power in Europe. Let's not, for God's sake, start once again furthering the silly intrigues which helped bring the world almost to the point of ruin.

RECONVERSION PLAN OUTLINED

Byrnes Lists Rules For Giving War Plants
"Go" Signal

Washington, (AP)—Here are the rules listed by War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes for determining which war plants will be converted first to output of civilian goods:

Federal procurement agencies will retain until final victory over Japan those contractors which have been found capable of producing required items at scheduled rates. Plants will be selected for reconversion on the following basis:

1—Privately-owned plants not normally engaged in military production will be given first priority of release from War Production, due consideration being given to the wishes of the contractors.

2—Government-owned plants will be kept in operation or reserve "until their production is clearly no longer required for military needs. This is subject to modification in the case of a plant located in an isolated section with no opportunity for displaced workers where the exercise of wise administrative discretion may prompt other action."

3—In so far as practical, the release to civilian production of competing units of the same industry "should be simultaneous." (Byrnes said this meant that if three auto manufacturers like Ford, General Motors and Chrysler were to be released, all three should be allowed to start civilian production at the same time).

4—In scheduling the release of plants and industries "due consideration is to be given to cushioning the shock of unemployment."

Production of Gold In Canada Hampered By War Says Visitor

Hampered by lack of labor, gold mining operations in Canada are more or less marking time for the duration of the war, and while the current annual output of the precious metal amounts to several million dollars, it is but a portion of the anticipated production once peace is declared.

This is the opinion of Harry E. Sparks, general manager of O'Brien Gold Mines, Ltd., Quebec, who is visiting with his brother, Ben F. Sparks, at the Delta hotel. The O'Brien mine is one of 17 operating in what is known as the Northwest Quebec mining district. The vein in which the gold is found is in the sedimentary belt which extends from Kirkland Lake in Ontario 150 miles east to Sonnetterre in Quebec.

From Sault Ste. Marie this territory lies approximately 500 miles north and east, Mr. Sparks said, and it includes large areas of virgin timber and innumerable lakes and streams.

Employing at present 200 men, the O'Brien mine annually produces a million dollars worth of gold. The crude ore from which the metal is extracted brings $18 per ton, although some of the mines in the region produce ore worth only $4.

Gold Is Expensive
Separated from the ore the gold is imported into the United States where it brings $38.50 an ounce in Canadian money which is equivalent to $55.000 in American money.

Mr. Sparks stated that following the war increased activity will be noted in the gold mining section. Diamond drilling operations even now are being carried on extensively, and, with increased labor available, the gold output will be increased considerably.

It was explained that gold mining is similar to copper mining. The O'Brien mine shaft is down about 3,000 feet, but there are others which go down as much as five and six thousand feet.

One of the major problems of mining company officials, Mr. Sparks said, is to prevent one "hitting" by miners. Every precaution is taken to prevent the workmen from enhancing their paycheck with stolen gold. In spite of their vigilance, however, the mining companies know that annually approximately one and one half millions of dollars is smuggled out each year from the gold mines in Northern Ontario and Quebec.

JOBBER APPLY FOR PRISONERS

Will Be Used Primarily For Production
Of Pulpwood

Applications for the use of German prisoners of war for the cutting of pulpwood were received from Upper Peninsula timber operators at a meeting of the War Manpower commission and U. S. army officers at Marquette Friday afternoon.

About 1,000 prisoners will be assigned to four or five camps in the Upper Peninsula sometime after Oct. 1. Due to the easing of the chemical woods situation the camps will be engaged primarily in the production of pulpwood, still on the top critical list.

The Newberry Chemical and Iron company of Newberry applied for 200 war prisoners to be quartered at Raco. The William Bonifas company proposed to build its own camp for a similar contingent in its pulpwood operations north of Newberry.

Theiler Brothers and Osman Sirrard, timber jobbers operating southeast of Ontonagon, have requested the use of Camp Pori.

There is also the prospect that another group will be assigned to Camp Mormon Creek to work for the Bay de Noyet Lumber company.

All these applications will be submitted to the labor-management committee sometime this week for final approval.

Early Escanaba Days

Homesteaders Were Often Duped by Swindlers

—BY JOHN P. NORTON

In the early history of this section there was much "skulduggery" in the homesteading of timber and mineral lands. Col. John C. Vanduzer, publisher of the Escanaba Iron Port, for several years led the battle for justice for honest settlers whose claims were jumped under various pretexts.

He was particularly active in battling for the rights of settlers who homesteaded lands that were afterwards claimed by what was known as the "O & B" railway company. That company had been awarded government lands for building a railroad that was never finished and in spite of the fact the company's claims were in the courts and before congress for several years, it was charged by Col. Vanduzer that squatters were sent to the lands to preempt titles that were held by legitimate homesteaders and other original owners.

What Col. Vanduzer called the "Hill-Weimer crowd," engineered what he claimed was the unlawful settlement of lands in the Iron River and other sections of the peninsula. The pioneer Escanaba editor organized the legitimate settlers and land owners and fought the false homestead claims, both in the courts and before congress and eventually won a partial victory.

Escanabans Were Duped

A number of Escanaba's early pioneers, it was claimed by Col. Vanduzer were dupes of the "Hill-Weimer crowd" and when the battle was at its height, in February 1884, he boldly identified his fellow townsmen who were involved. Under the homestead laws an individual, making an entry, was required to build a house on the property and in addition to residing there for a portion of each year was expected to clear a certain part of the land.

In exposing what he claimed to be a gigantic swindle against the interests of honest homesteaders, the publisher of The Port, in the issue of Feb. 16, 1884, said: "The 'Hill-Weimer homesteaders' are a queer lot. Looking over the list we find the names of a good many of our neighbors, who must be, of course, residing upon and cultivating the lands they claim as homesteads, but whom we have not missed from their accustomed places and avocations. For instance J. C. Maguire is, in theory, residing upon and cultivating his homestead at Iron River, but his double goes back and forth, between here and Ford River, daily, carrying the mail; John Curran is also, in theory, cultivating, but some rosy-faced good fellow who looks like him is, as we write, in town attending to the affairs of his engine, which, when repaired will pull the passenger train between Powers and Crystal Falls; L. D. McKenna is a pattern granger, but he finds time to run a wholesale liquor house in Escanaba, between whistles; we send John Drisko's Iron Port to Schofield, Marathon county, Wis., and he reads it every week; Ed Ledger and Cutler A. Cram attend, when not engaged in breaking new ground on their homesteads, to their duties as aldermen of the Fourth ward of Escanaba and draw regularly, once a month, on the C. & N. W. for a month's pay. M. W. Naylor and John Swanson get their Iron Ports and their per diem at Ford River, of course coming out of the woods, where their homesteads lie for that purpose."

pose; August Erickson would be a regular hayseed granger, if he were not a natty young clerk for his brother, Ed, and the favorite of the lady customers of the brother aforesaid and James Harrington does not fall, because of his labors in cultivating his Iron River homestead, to get up three square meals a day for his house full of hungry boarders, here in Escanaba. Some of these parties have made their homestead claims to keep others off the lands they already own, having purchased them from the U. S. government but they go to make up the "400 actual settlers" with which Mr. Mapes shocked Mr. Cobb's committee, and we note the facts connected with their applications merely to show the character of the Hill-Weimer-Mapes business.

MESABI RANGE ON FORTY HOURS

Slackening Demand For Iron Ore Reduces Operations

Indications of the slackening demand for iron ore are found in reports from the great Mesabi iron ore range that all properties there are reducing work weeks to 40 hours that mines operating three shifts a day have cut to two and a majority normally operating two shifts have brought their production level down to one shift a day.

There are two reasons for this—one that the mines, geared to one of the greatest production records in American industry have reached quotas assigned them at the outset of the season, and the other that there have been cut-backs in original delivery orders, due to the fact that many lower-lake docks are carrying as much ore as they can handle, with plenty of reserve to carry them through the first part of the 1945 season.

This is in the line with the trend on the other iron ranges. On the Marquette range announcement was made some time ago that the majority of properties would be operating on a 40-hour basis. Most mines of the Menominee range are on a 40-hour schedule.

Shipments, however, are expected to keep well up to schedule, but the mines will be able to meet these shipping requirements without utilizing the full extent of their resources. It is a splendid commentary, it was pointed out today, on the cooperation which the iron ore industry has put forth, producing even greater volumes than the expanded demands made upon them by the war effort.

SQUADRON HAS 68 MISSIONS

Sgt. Magoon's Unit One Of Best In Yank's Air Force

With a record of 68 bombing missions behind it, Staff Sgt. Howard Magoon's air squadron is one of the finest in the American Air Forces. Magoon was born in Gladstone, a son of the late Clarence Magoon, who was a dispatch-er. His mother resides in Marquette but visits often in Gladstone.

The following story appeared in the Marquette Mining Journal: An eighth Air Force Liberator Station, England. (Special to the Mining Journal)—Staff Sergeant Howard Magoon, Marquette, a gunner on a B-24 Liberator, is a member of a B-24 Liberator squadron in England, which has been "cited for distinguished" and outstanding performance of duty by completing 68 heavy bombardment missions without the loss of a man and for the part they played in the bombing and invasion of Europe.

Led by Lt. Colonel Hugh C. Arnold, of Berea, Ohio, Sergeant Magoon's squadron has taken part in the all out bombing offensive of Germany's continental fortress, and in the Eighth Air Force's attack on the invasion coast of France. Sergeant Magoon has participated in bombing missions over Berlin, Brunswick and other war production centers of Germany, the invasion coast and Nazi communication centers in France. The squadron, part of a group commanded by Colonel Jacob J. Broberger, of Butterfield, Minnesota, among the Eighth Air Force's first "heavies" over the invasion coast on D-Day.

Major General James P. Hodges, then head of the Liberator division in England, recently cited his squadron "for distinguished and outstanding performance of duty by completing 68 heavy bombardment missions without the loss of a man. This squadron has contributed greatly to the bombing and the invasion of Europe by the bombing of targets in Germany and enemy occupied Europe."

Many of the missions were accomplished in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire and formidable enemy fighter opposition. The tenacity of purpose, efficiency, determination and devotion to duty displayed by both the ground and combat personnel reflect the greatest credit upon themselves and the Armed Forces of the United States.

Sergeant Magoon has previously been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, "for extraordinary achievement while serving as gunner of a B-24 airplane on many bombardment missions over enemy occupied Continental Europe. Displaying great courage and skill, Sergeant Magoon, fighting from his gun position, has waged off many enemy attacks and has materially aided in the successful completion of each of these missions. The courage, coolness and exceptional skill displayed by Sergeant Magoon on all these occasions reflect the highest credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Was At Pearl Harbor
In addition to the Distinguished Flying Cross, Sergeant Magoon wears the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Sergeant Magoon entered the service October 29, 1940, and shortly after enlisting was sent to Hickam Field, Territory of Hawaii, and was stationed there when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. He is a graduate of the John D. Pierce high school, and attended the Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette.

He is the son of Mrs. Edith Magoon, 1119 North 2nd street, Marquette. His wife, Evelyn, lives in Manistique.

Manistique Church And K. Of C. To Celebrate

Arrangements are nearly completed for a joint anniversary celebration of St. Francis de Sales church and Manistique Council 2026, Knights of Columbus, on Sept. 24. This is the 60th anniversary of the church in Manistique and the 25th of the K. of C. council.

Both the church and the K. of C. hall have been redecorated for the occasion, the project at the hall having been only recently completed by volunteer help of the membership under the direction of Norman P. Martin, chairman of the house committee.

A three-day religious service will precede a solemn high mass on Sept. 24 at 8 a. m. and in the evening from 5 to 6:30 dinner will be served to members of the parish and friends. This will mark the close of the church celebration.

Members of the Knights of Columbus council and their friends will attend solemn high mass at 8 a. m., and together with the candidates who will be initiated into the K. of C. that day, will receive Holy Communion in a body.

Initiation of candidates in the first degree of the order will take place at 11 a. m. Conferring of the second and third degrees will begin at 1 p. m. and will be followed by a banquet at 7 p. m. and a program. The new Manistique high school gymnasium has been secured for the parish banquet from 5 to 6:30 p. m. and for the K. of C. banquet at 7 p. m. Ample seating room is available for those who attend both banquets to remain for the program.

The initiatory work will be conferred by past state deputy Germain Murphy and his degree team from Calumet, K. of C. councils of Escanaba, Menominee, Iron Mountain, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Munising, Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace have been invited to attend and many have accepted an invitation that they will bring candidates for initiation, giving assurance of a large class for the occasion.

Manistique council was instituted on Sept. 28, 1919, by past state deputy John J. O'Hara and his degree team from Menominee assisted by a first degree team of the Escanaba council, Menominee and Escanaba will therefore take a prominent part in the silver jubilee celebration. John J. O'Hara has been invited to do the honors as the principal speaker of the evening. A large delegation of members with their candidates will attend from Escanaba, headed by Joseph Lequia, Grand Knight of the Escanaba council.

A motion was also made to direct letters to each of the township war fund chairmen asking them to attend the conference if possible.

Secretary Helen McLaughlin received instructions to frame a letter to heads of all organizations and clergymen asking them to impress upon their respective groups the importance of the drive and its work.

A total of $9,540 is to be raised in this county for the three-fold drive. Funds will go to the war fund, both Scout organizations, and the youth council.

The youth council budget which is estimated will be $2,500 will be approved by the group at its next meeting since it has not yet been submitted.

Veterans Council Meets To Organize

G. E. Carpenter of the field service section of the state office of veterans' affairs will be present at a meeting of the Schoolcraft council of veterans' affairs Monday in the courthouse at 8 p. m., to assist the group in organizing.

All Schoolcraft county organizations are urged to request to appoint representatives to attend that meeting, according to Fred Hahne.

Manistique Wallops Munising, 41 to 0, In Opening Football Game

CURLEY LEADS TEAM SCORING

Emeralds Are Impressive In Opening Game Of Season

Manistique, Sept. 9.—Led by Capt. Bob Curley, upper peninsula sprint champion, who scored four touchdowns, Manistique high school's football team made an impressive debut here today by walloping Munising, 41 to 0. The game was played in rain and a moderate crowd, most of whom remained in automobiles, watched the battle.

Bob Curley scored four touchdowns from his position at quarter. He scored one in the first quarter, two in the second quarter and one in the third quarter. Arnold Patz scored one of the tallies in the first quarter and Melvin Courmaye chalked up one in the last quarter.

Patz made four of the conversions and Milavie made the other. The try for the last field goal failed.

The first score was made by Curley in the first five minutes of the first quarter on a 60-yard run from his own 40 to the goal posts. Patz made the score 13-0 with a line plunge from the five-yard line.

Curley took the ball again in the second quarter and ran it across again to make the score 20-0. A few minutes later, Robert Burnis lateraled to Curley who got into the clear for a 40-yard run to the next tally.

In the third quarter, Curley again took the ball near his own goal line and ran the length of the field for the fifth touchdown of the afternoon.

Courmaye made the fourth quarter marker on a plunge from the two-yard line. On the kick, the ball was blocked.

Newsom Produces Win For Athletics

Washington, Sept. 9 (AP)—Buck Newsom pitched and batted the Philadelphia Athletics to a 3-1 win over the Washington Senators tonight. Roger Wolff was Newsom's victim, mostly through faulty fielding.

With runners on second and third in the sixth inning, Newsom laid down a perfect bunt to score Frankie Hayes from third. Freddie Vaughn then let Roy Hall's easy roller through an error to score George Kell.

Both teams counted once in the ninth. Bobby Estalella's double scored John Epps for the Athletics' only singles by Joe Kuhel, Bobby Ortiz and Gil Torres gave the Senators their lone run.

Iron Mt. Defeats Ishpeming, 8 to 0

Ishpeming, Sept. 9 (AP)—Iron Mountain defeated Ishpeming, 8-0, in the opening football game of the season here today. The game was played in a driving rain.

The Mountaineers scored a safety in the fourth quarter and then added the clincher later in the final period when Yuhasey scampered 45 yards for a touchdown on an end-around play.

Defeat Drops Browns Down To Third Place

Chicago, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns 2 to 1 in the 14th inning tonight to drop the visitors into third place, a game behind the New York Yankees and a half-game behind the Detroit Tigers. The Sox scored the deciding run after Jack Kramer, veteran right hander, carried the Browns' struggle into the extra innings with a homer for his team's only run and scoreless pitching for 12 innings.

Ed Lopat, stocky White Sox southpaw, went the route against Kramer, allowing seven hits, singles by Leroy Schalk, Ralph Hodgins and Thurman Tucker, the latter's with two out, put over the winning run.

Kramer, who rejoined the Browns late last season after service with the Seabees, hit a home run in the eighth inning to tie the score. It was the only run the Browns got off Lopat. Kramer pitched 12 scoreless innings after the Chicagoans had scored in the first frame on Schalk's scratch hit and Hal Trosky's line double.

After those two first inning blows, Kramer allowed the Sox only one other hit until the tenth and one more in each of the 11th and 12th frames.

Next Six Weeks Best For Bass, Says Frank Pearson

You can take it from an authority on piscatorial creatures and their habits that the next six weeks will be the best period of the year for good bass fishing.

He is Frank E. Pearson, 34 year old Masonville resident who lives near the water's edge at the head of Little Bay de Noc, one of the truly famous fishing grounds of northern Michigan.

Despite his age—he boasts that he'll be 85 come next January—Pearson is spry, full of vigor and oozing with good humor. Pearson operates a boat delivery service at Masonville, does a little fishing himself occasionally, and talks with dozens of fishermen daily.

"From now until October 15, the small mouth bass will grab your bait with all of the fight that has made this species the best game fish in the northern waters," Pearson reported. "The time to catch the big fellows is in the early morning. They are hungry then and do most of feeding at that time."

Recommends Nightcrawlers

"Too many fellows lose the big bass because they are too anxious to set the hook. You have to give him a chance to get the bait in his mouth before you jerk the line. Once you have him hooked, he'll give you a lot of fun. The small mouth usually will break water three times before you get him into your net."

Pearson recommends a nice big gob of nightcrawlers for bait when fishing for black bass. He reported that most of the best catches in recent days have been on this bait.

"After loading your hook well with nightcrawlers, let one dangle off the end of the hook for an inch or so. Then when Mr. Bass comes along for an early morning breakfast, let him have a couple of gulps before you set the hook," the veteran fisherman advises.

Pearson came to Masonville 18 years ago following his retirement from the Munising Paper company. He was looking around for a scenic spot to settle down with his wife, who is now 80, and they selected Masonville. They bought 25 acres of land on the bay, built a cozy home overlooking the water, and settled down to enjoy their remaining years in ease and contentment.

Knows Fishing Holes

Pearson knows all of the best fishing holes at Masonville and never hesitates to direct his "guests"—they are the folks who rent his boats—to good fishing grounds. Invariably he tosses in some of his homespun philosophy for good measure.

The bay at Masonville is famed not only for its great bass fishing, but for pike, both northern and walleyes, perch and other panfish as well.

With a degree of frankness, amazing because it comes from one who has an income from the renting of boats to fishermen, Pearson admits the perch fishing hasn't been "so hot" at Masonville this summer.

"The big perch just didn't come to Masonville this season," the veteran fisherman reported. "The folks usually manage to catch perch, as they always have, but the fish are much smaller than usual. They are running only about seven inches long and that would be just about right for bait for the big yellow perch we used to catch here. Maybe it's the war. Anyway, I think they'll be back with us again next year."

Stambaugh Beats Negaunee, 20 to 12

Negaunee, Sept. 8.—Negaunee high school opened the 1944 football season by running into a smooth-working Stambaugh machine here tonight and losing 20 to 12. The attendance was reported as 1,300 paid.

Here Schalk started the winning tally by singling with one out in the 14th.

Hodgin put him on second with a single. Both runners advanced as Second Baseman Don Guttridge threw out. Hal Trosky, Tucker then poked the first pitch to right field, too far for Guttridge to reach, and the ball eluded Right Fielder Milt Byrnes's desperate dive.

Lopat, scoring his tenth victory against nine defeats, held the Browns hitless the last four frames. His only pass was issued to Byrnes at the start of the 11th inning.

Kramer, suffering his 13th defeat against a similar number of victories, walked only one Chicagoan.

A crowd of 9,325, most of whom stood up at the start of the Browns' seventh and 14th frames and in addition showed local support of the visitors, saw the game.

Fire Destroys 18 Horses At Belmont

New York, Sept. 9 (AP)—Eighteen racehorses were destroyed tonight in a fire that burned a stable at Belmont Park racetrack in Nassau county.

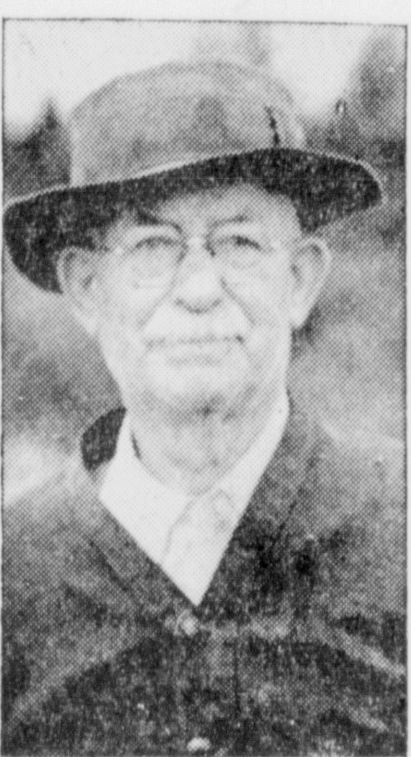

The horses, all under supervision of veteran trainer Max C. Hirsch, had been kept at the track since the closing of the Belmont meeting on Sept. 2. Their names and owners could not be learned immediately.

Starting shortly after 11 p. m. (EWT), the blaze was confined to one building, but that structure was burned and the thoroughbreds housed in others were led to safety.

The fire brought two alarms, with companies from Elmont, Franklin Square and New York City responding.

JUG MC SPADEN CROWDS NELSON

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 9 (AP)—Byron Nelson hurried along with his third sub-par round of the Texas Victory open today and it was enough to keep him out in front at 54 holes but closing in was the guy with a chest like a blacksmith and golf drives to match—burly Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

McSpaden, laid down a three-under-par 68 to move within four strokes of the fast-moving Toledo star and they will march out tomorrow for the final 18 holes with their score cards reading like this:

Nelson 138-70—208.
McSpaden 144-68—212.

There was no other player even fairly close to Lord Byron.

Struggling down in third place were Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and Wee Ben Hogan of Fort Worth army air field, each with 217.

Nelson said he was satisfied to hold a four-stroke lead but that "I was disappointed with my round today."

McSpaden let some great shots out of the bag today, on 208-yard No. 6 he almost holed out. His drive rolled by the pin, missing it by an inch and going on past three feet. He easily sank the putt for a birdie.

On No. 8 his tee shot rolled against a fence, McSpaden got on the other side of the fence and blasted the ball 140 yards onto the green for a par.

And thus it was all afternoon for the chunky young man from Philadelphia, who is second money-winner of the year.

Softball Managers Will Meet Monday

A meeting of all softball managers, officials and other fans will be held at the city recreation center Monday night beginning at 8:00 o'clock according to an announcement by Mel Bertrand, chairman of the annual banquet meeting scheduled for Thursday night at the ski lodge.

Bertrand requests that all managers have ready a report of the number expecting to go from their respective teams. Other old time ball players or fans are invited to attend and Bertrand would like them to notify him or one of the managers if they intend to go in order to order sufficient supplies.

Members of the committee report that tickets for the event are going very rapidly and a capacity crowd is expected.

The annual audit of the treasurer's book also will be conducted after the banquet meeting is concluded. On the auditing group are Paul Vardigan, Gerald Kenneally, and A. A. Doucette. The constitution of the association designates the current city recreation director as treasurer.

The horses, all under supervision of veteran trainer Max C. Hirsch, had been kept at the track since the closing of the Belmont meeting on Sept. 2. Their names and owners could not be learned immediately.

Starting shortly after 11 p. m. (EWT), the blaze was confined to one building, but that structure was burned and the thoroughbreds housed in others were led to safety.

The fire brought two alarms, with companies from Elmont, Franklin Square and New York City responding.

Urban Warmer Than Rural

In winter, smoky cities are warmer than the open country around them, since the smoke acts as a blanket to hold in artificial heat.

The Tigers, winning their eighth game in 10 starts, poured across five runs off Cleveland's starter, Ed Klemm, in the third inning and six more off two Tribe relief pitchers in the eighth.

Alley Oop

No Glamor In War, Says Lt. Nilson Of Air Force

BY MELVIN TRAMS

The greatest thrill of the war for a soldier is the return home to family, friends and familiar surroundings. There is no glamor in war; rather it is a distasteful job which must be done, and the ambition of every service man is to get it over with so that he can return home to continue his peaceful mission in life.

Lt. Nilson

Such were the observations of Lt. Thor Nilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Nilson, 805 Washington avenue, who is home after 11 months overseas. With 50 missions to his credit as pilot of a B-24 Lt. Nilson will have 23 days furlough at home before he reports at a rest camp at Miami Beach, Fla.

Soldiers want to come back to the best place in the world, and they want to find it unchanged, said Nilson. They are glad to see that folks still can laugh, attend the movies, dress attractively and enjoy themselves. Men in the service definitely are not in sympathy with those who feel they are contributing to the war effort by sitting with their heads in their hands and "suffering" with the boys.

Italian People Suffered

Avoiding a discussion of his own personal experiences, Lt. Nilson spoke freely of his impressions of the country he had seen. "Everything looks so old," the young flyer said. "The buildings, the customs of the natives, the rocks and hills, even the people appear old and worn out."

In contrast with reports from Paris which told of well dressed citizens and still beautiful girls, the natives of Italy definitely reflected the havoc of war, Nilson said. People were poorly dressed, and while there was no evidence of starvation, neither was there any indication that food was plentiful.

Sees Old Friends

No experience of war equals the thrill of running into someone you know, Nilson remarked. It Italy he bumped into William Stegath and in Algiers he found Fred Walker, an old football teammate. Nilson noted that when men from Upper Michigan met they struck up acquaintance easily and found much in common to talk about.

Discussing the "jitters" which sometimes ground pilots after a number of missions, Nilson explained how nervous tension builds up with each succeeding flight. At first, he said, you think nothing of the danger because you figure you won't live through it anyway. Then, as mission after mission piles up to your credit, the possibility that you have a chance to complete your work and come home builds up a mental pressure that frequently causes the pilot to crack.

In such cases the flyer is sent to a rest camp, usually a resort hotel where he can indulge in hot baths, comfortable beds and entertainment calculated to restore him to normal. In a week's time in pleasant surroundings the man usually is ready for action again. Nilson was especially interested in visiting the native quarters in Algiers, Tunis and Casa Blanca. The clannish Arabs group themselves in sections of the cities and ply their trades along the narrow streets. All Arabs seem to be craftsmen and in their primitive way fashion beautiful articles from gold, silver and leather.

Natives Raise Prices

Quick, however, to sense a business boom, the natives took advantage of the influx of American soldiers to establish new price ceilings. Sales are made with considerable haggling, and Nilson felt quite victorious on one occasion when he finally purchased silver wings for $2 which were priced at $10.00.

Entering the service in March, 1942, Nilson was trained in the west coast training command. After winning his wings he went to Topeka, Kas., where he received his ship and crew. From there they flew to Africa via South America and then to Italy. The flight across the ocean consumed 13 hours.

Nilson's missions took him to targets over Italy and Germany, and while the ship had no narrow escapes three members of the crew were killed. One man, a waist gunner who was posthumously cited, had both legs shot off but stuck to his guns until he died from loss of blood.

Following his leave in Escanaba, Lt. Nilson will report at Miami Beach, Fla., where he will remain until he is given a new assignment.

CULTISTS TO GO ON TRIAL

Charged With Evasion Of Anti - Polygamy Laws In Utah

Salt Lake City, (AP)—Thirty-four members of the "Fundamentalist" Cult—which believes in plural marriage—will go on trial Sept. 15 charged with conspiring to evade Utah's anti-polygamy laws, but their 70-year-old leader said whatever the verdict, it will have no effect on their belief. "We'll keep on going in spite of anything and everything because it's a revealed principle of the Lord," greying, portly John Yates Barlow, president of the cult, said in an interview. "They may put some of us in jail but this movement will go right on."

"If we as a people believed that the manifesto was a revelation of God," Barlow said, "that would be a different thing. But it wasn't. If we gave up one principle of the revelation (on which the book of Mormon is based) then we might as well give up the whole thing."

Present leaders of the Mormon church have expressed approval of the effort by state and federal authorities to wipe out plural marriages.
